MAKING HAY TAKES MONEY-To realize an annual $2,500 profit, family farm operators need investments of from $14,000 to $89,000, depending upon where the farm is located and the type of crop raised. The figures are the result of a study conducted by the Agricultural Research Service in six widely separated sections of the country. Operator's earnings are defined as gross farm income minus total farm expenses, capital charges, or interest on investment for the privilege of using the farm resources, and an allowance for unpaid family labor used on the farm.

MINISTER DESIGNS TOP SELLING IMPERIAL "MUSIC MINDER"

A new, ingeniously designed record cabinet, which stores 200 1 records in separate, indexed compartments and also serves as an attractive occasional table, is being introduced to the public.

The unusual piece, called the Music Minder, is being produced by Imperial Furniture Company of Grand Rapids, Michigan, one of the world's largest markers of occasional tables. The Music Minder was unveiled at Chicago's recent market and was purchased by over 90% of Imperial dealers. Records have proven that Imperial has introduced a leader.

One of the biggest features of the Music Minder is its large storage capacity-200 seven, ten or twelve inch records-and the fact that every record is easily accessible. Music Minder's unique indexed filing system makes instant selection of any record possible Records are stored vertically in separate compartments of a four-sided, accordian-like file. Each compartment is numbered. On each side of the revolving file there is a Title-Selector Panel ing the file, titles of all 200 records can be seen at a glance and by | grain. Model pictured above.

referring to the title listing, any one of the records can be selected

Music Minder handles records with exceptional care, storing them in the approved vertical way, filing each one in its separate compartment to protect it from being scratched or otherwise

Scouts Will Tackle Tough Job In 48th Anniversary Year

Council have a big week coming up Feb. 7 to 13, as have all 4,700,000 Scouts, Cubs, and Explorers throughout the nation. The week will mark the 48th birthday anniversary of Scouting. Every district and every council throughout the land will witness special activities by the Boy Scouts, and the public will benefit from their efforts.

The Scout anniversary will launch a yearlong nationwide Safety Good Turn, undertaken at the suggestion of President Eisenhower. The boys and their leaders will engage in promoting traffic safety, outdoor safety, and home safety.

The Scouts really have work to do. Safety campaigns of past years, most of which were engineered by adults. too often failed to make a dent in casualty figures. Highway deaths, acci-

Their Conservation Good Turn in 1954 was outstanding; their collection of nearly two million items of clothing, food-stuffs and supplies for the needy back in 1934, was a feat that wrote the real meaning of service in the record books.

The Safety Good Turn planned for 1958 by the Boy Scouts holds out hope of substantial results. With the enthusiasm of youth, the Scouts will emphasize the message of traffic safety in March, April, and May; outdoor safety in June, July, and August; home safety in September, October, and November.

Free Thought And Tyranny

In all the hubbub over Soviet achievements in science and education relative to our own, one aspect of the matter hasn't had the attention it probably deserves.

Since the dawn of tyranny, men have been saying that arbitrary government is the enemy of free thought and hence of genuine progress in science and all other fields of education.

What the Russians have accomplished, and are continuing to accomplish, seems to contradict this long-held notion. For it is doubtful if any tyranny in history was more rigid than the Soviet version which now imposes its grip upon millions of square miles of the earth's surface.

In this vast arena of human terror, the expression of ideas is controlled with ruthless efficiency. Departures from the Communist line of the moment are penalized as unforgivable

Yet within this oppressive atmosphere, the Soviet Union has astonished free men by achieving results in science and technology that the free

This brings to mind a point I wanted to make from last week that I hope you'll find has more to recommend it than the joke, even though it's definitely not funny.

If you were with us then you'll recall the sad story of a car buyer we know who'd convinced himself he'd saved a hundred on the 'deal' he'd made in another town — until he found he'd bought himself a car that had been wrecked and cleverly patched up. It properly short of a major repair job with a kingsize bill. What he'd 'saved' plus a few more hundred went down

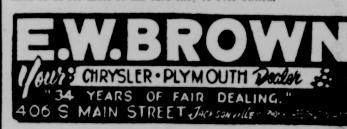

We gave him some pointers on "How To Spot A Wreck" and we're passing them on to you this week.

First, it's a good idea to look the car over in daylight free of reflections. Put your head close to the body and fenders and sight along them looking for ripples. Ripple areas are signs of sheet metal that has been bent and improperly straightened. A fender's not too important but the top or a body panel's a different matter.

The big thing to fear here is that the car's frame may have been bent. If it's been bent badly enough there is just about nothing a repairman can do to make it run properly again short of a new frame, which even then sometimes leaves the car permanently out of kilter.

Another sign of this is doors that sag and can't be adjusted to fit snugly. Check the overall paint for slight differences in shade which can mean a partial repaint job.

There's one last check that covers all that really matters: CHECK ON YOUR DEALER. If he's interested in your future business and dealing squarely with you, the folks who've dealt with him will know. Ask them, We'll be glad to give you a list anytime - and you'll find they're folks who've come back to us for most of the cars they've ever owned.
